ALLEGRO

MODERATO.

The musical score is written for piano and voice. It begins with a piano introduction in 6/8 time, marked 'ALLEGRO' and 'MODERATO'. The piano part features a steady eighth-note accompaniment in the left hand and a more melodic line in the right hand. The vocal part enters with a melody in the right hand. The lyrics are written below the vocal line.

Detailed description: This is a musical score for a voice and piano piece, page 55. The score is written in G major (one sharp) and 4/4 time. It consists of six systems of music. The first system shows the vocal melody and piano accompaniment. The vocal line has lyrics: '..... to dale re... sounds..... ari a...i ai hu ai a...i ai'. The piano accompaniment features a dense texture of chords and moving lines. The second system continues the vocal melody with lyrics: 'ari a...i ai hu ai a...i hu ai ai ai hu ai ai ai hu'. The piano accompaniment continues with similar density. The third system includes the instruction 'lentando.' and 'pp' (pianissimo). The fourth system is a rest for the vocal line. The fifth system features a forte 'f' dynamic for the piano accompaniment, which then transitions to piano 'p'. The sixth system includes the lyrics 'And then when he my cottage gains..... What' and a forte 'f' dynamic for the piano accompaniment.

Spars in Place.

London, June 6.—The text of the memorandum of Great Britain, France and Russia to the Porte and the projects of those powers for reforming the Turkish Administration of the Armenian provinces will be published shortly.

The Times, commenting on the proposals, says that it approves them, and declares that if the proposed reforms can be carried out, they will make Armenia, happy and prosperous. The Sultan, it adds, will have to accept the scheme without further hesitation, and the Powers will see that a bona fide effort is made to put it into practice.

Constantinople, June 6.—Said Pasha, Minister of Foreign Affairs, made two visits to Philip Currie, British Ambassador, on June 4, and it is announced that as a result of those visits there is a prospect of a speedy settlement of the Armenian difficulty.

JOHN A. MACDONALD'S STATUE

Unveiled by Lord Aberdeen, Governor General.

Montreal, June 6.—At 8 o'clock this afternoon, in the presence of an immense gathering, which included nearly 2000 invited guests, Lord Aberdeen performed the ceremony of unveiling the statue erected in Dominion Square to the memory of the late Canadian Premier, Sir John A. Macdonald. Donald Smith delivered the opening address. Governor General's oration followed. Remarks did not occupy more than a quarter of an hour. He then pulled down the handsome drapery. Redispatch from Antananarivo, the capital of Madagascar, stating that the advance of Antananarivo has been repulsed. The dispatch adds that the mortality among the French, due to climatic conditions, increases daily.

PEOPLE PANIC-STRIKEN.

Florence, June 6.—Violent shocks of earthquake were felt here at 1.30 o'clock this morning, and a number of shocks were experienced throughout the Compagnie of Tuscany last night. In both instances the people became panic-stricken and fled from their homes. No damage was done in the city. Details from the rural districts have not yet been received.

CANAL TO THE MEDITERRANEAN.

Bordeaux, June 6.—President Faure yesterday received a deputation representing the interests involved in the projected canal to connect the Atlantic and the Mediterranean, and assured the delegates that the Government was greatly interested in the project and fully recognized the importance of its being carried out.

CHINESE LOAN.

London, June 6.—The United Press learns from the best London authority that Paris bankers have concluded a Chinese 4 per cent. gold loan of 16,000,000, guaranteed by Russia. The probable issue price, it is said, will be 38.

AGREEMENT WITH STANDARD OIL.

Glasgow, June 6.—It was announced today that the Scotch companies had entered into a three years' agreement with the Standard Oil Company, the effect of which is to advance the price of candles and scale the price of oil.

BEDOONS ON A RAMPAGE.

Jiddah, June 6.—The Bedouins have attacked and destroyed the pilgrims' cholera hospital at this place, and to prevent further attacks 250 soldiers will be immediately added to the Turkish garrison here.

CONGREGATIONALISTS.

The Saratoga Convention—Opening Session of the Home Missionary Society—Addresses by Rev. Messrs. Choate and Pufferfoot.

Saratoga, N. Y., June 6.—At the opening session of the Congregational Home Missionary Society this morning Rev. Washington Choate, one of the three Secretaries of the society, presented a paper on behalf of the Executive Committee, under the head of "Open Doors." Mr. Choate said that there are less than 10,000 enrolled church members in Utah (outside of the church of the Latter Day Saints), and of this 10,000 more than three-fifths, or 6000, within the Roman Catholic fold—to face and meet the 118,000 of the Mormon church, a disunited handful to oppose a mighty host, perfectly organized, unquestionably obedient to leaders, trained to the word of their higher powers; in short, an evangelized Protestant Christian force of but 3600 to diffuse the enlightening and converting gospel through that life barren and feared under the delusion of the Mormon faith.

Utah pleads today for enlargement of the missionary force, and missionary funds which shall enable her to multiply church and mission all over her vast territory. Not only in population centres, where the Gentile force is strong in civic and social power, but in the hundreds of Mormon communities, where the influence of Mormonism is on its southeastern cor-

Many of the Leaders Ardent for Free Silver.

Following are dispatches to a morning paper from members of the Democratic National Committee on the action taken at Springfield:

RAMPANT FOR BIMETALLISM.

Denver, Col., June 6.—The declaration of the Democratic State Convention in favor of bimetalism at the old rate is in keeping with the principles and traditions of the party and is right. An abundant and stable monetary circulation is absolutely essential to continue prosperity. Gold and silver coin, with paper issued by the Government and convertible into either, will alone secure this result. Essential, and the people is the basis of all true material progress and the fruitful source of national and individual disaster. There are big enough to have our own financial system without interference or dictation from Great Britain or any other Power. Democracy and bimetalism will, I trust, soon be recognized as synonymous terms, and Democrats everywhere and Sherman should have no place in the party of the future. Carlyle taught the truth in 1878. He should not complain because his old followers refuse to worship the golden calf at his bidding in 1896. All hail to the brilliant Democracy of Illinois. They have made the Militia at Framingham Talking of What Was Learned.

Second Regiment Pitched Shelter Tents This Morning.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.) In Camp at Framingham, June 6.—The battle of "Kissassit" is now before the committee on the conduct of the war. Rank and file of the Sixth have gone into a session of the whole to compare notes and ascertain just what they learned. By yesterday's maneuvers. The Colonel looks inquiringly at the Adjutant this morning, the latter looks as curiously into the eyes of his commander. The Captains are askance with the Lieutenants. Sergeants and Corporals wander in a maze, and the men are sawing wood most vigorously.

If we were aloft now we would best express it by the remark that the camp of our rising Middlesex Regiment is brimful and running over with sea lawyers. But we are not plunging and rising on the foaming sea, and so smile falls us. What does the Sixth know more than it knew before?

"Not a thing," says the old gray Sergeant. "Why, what did we do? Built a fire and boiled some coffee. Yes, anything strategic in that? Not a bit, except when Company L got the weather gauge of us and started its blaze first. "Marched down a narrow road, in column of fours. Did we throw out flanks or deploy to cover our right and left, we got Poughkeepsie off—don't walk on the grass." "Outposts," said the Lieutenant, "yes, we got outposts, but where was the support?" "Where was the enemy. We had ammunition. What for, to pop away in the air when we didn't have so much as an enemy outmatched for us."

We marched up the hill plumb into a stone wall, and there we stayed. No man over that wall into the road. No, sir. We were bound hand and foot.

"Then, look at it. We had review, then only a half an hour for dinner, and a rush out of camp. "There was the advance guard. Yes, that was all right, and we cooked coffee and came home wagged. That's all that I can see that we accomplished."

"We know where Brush Hill is. We learned so much." The orator of the idea of mute marches, if he had been permitted to have carried out his idea, would have sent a company, at least, by detour to occupy the hill, and to engage his advancing forces.

When he was attacked by a covert fire in the sunken road down by Sherborn Prison he proposed to deploy on right and left to cover his wings and move forward in line of battle.

He would have given his bond that he wouldn't have done five cent's worth of damage. Growing grass at this time of year would rise quickly, but the brief passage of his troops over it, and no planted seed was or would have been entered.

SKYLARKING STUDENTS.

Pupils in the New Hampton Literary Institution Make Things Lively—Two of Them Arrested and Fined.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.)

Bristol, N. H., June 5.—The New Hampton Literary Institution is attracting much attention on account of the demonstrations of its students who, as one of their number expressed it, "are on the war-path." Their occasional outbreaks during the year have been a source of much annoyance to the faculty, and on one or two occasions the Senior class has threatened to leave in case discipline was made in certain cases. The present escapade surpasses all other demonstrations of the year. It began last Friday night at the time of the Senior class banquet, given by the Principal, when the male students in considerable school rules, and proceeded to give vent to their enthusiasm by carrying furniture from the recitation rooms onto the campus, in the high-plank and other obstructions in the principal's house and the banquet rooms with way, strewing the walk between the principal's house and the banquet rooms with explosive matches, and making other demonstrations.

F. P. Morrill, a prominent merchant of the town, remonstrated with the boys, and as a result the next morning found the town generally placated with announcements reflecting upon that gentleman. Bitter feeling was aroused, and for the past few days the students have expressed themselves in various acts of transgression, among other things blocking the highway and walking to Mr. Morrill's store with an abundance of boxes and barrels.

The affair culminated yesterday in the arrest of two young men by Mr. Morrill, Mr. Reade of Exeter, and Justice Dicker of Boston. Arraigned before Justice Dicker in the local police court, each paid fines on the charge of placing explosives on the sidewalk, a result of these demonstrations, school life at New Hampton will probably lose what has heretofore been a permanent Senior class banquet. The annual Senior class banquet, the Principal expressing himself as wearying of having students as Middletons, cause trouble on banquet night only to show up the next year as Seniors to partake of his hospital-ity. A large number of students have been heard of the faculty last daybreak. The held sessions lasting till daybreak. The faculty are watchful, but the students threaten further demonstrations. The affair is the outgrowth of hilarity over the approaching end of the school year, and indignation over acts of discipline in what the students call trivial cases.

How the Thieves Got Into New Hampshire's Treasury Vault.

Concord, N. H., June 5.—The burglars who robbed the State Treasury carried away the key to the vault, and it could not be opened until last night. The door of the Treasury office is protected by an old lock (probably made 50 years or more ago), which, it is claimed, could be opened by a few minutes' prying with a nail.

The key of the vault which contained the safe was hanging in a convenient place, and it would seem that the robbers had little trouble in accomplishing their work. The safe has one of the improved combination locks, but it is not kept locked in the day time.

It is evident that the burglars, having

The Number of Bills Vetoes by the Governor.

Beats Record for Many Years on Veto Work.

Three Were "Pocketed" Did Not Become Laws.

General Court Prorogued to Tuesday in January.

The Great and General Court of Massachusetts is a thing of the past, in all human probability, for it was prorogued Wednesday night, and unless some unusual thing happens, will not be called together again. It was prorogued at 7.20 last evening, and its record for the year is briefly summed up in the information conveyed by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, to the effect that the Governor had during the session signed 504 acts, 127 resolves, vetoed 16 bills, allowed two to become laws by statutory limitation, withholding his signature, to which may be added the fact that he took no action upon three salary bills sent him in the closing hours of the session, by reason of which they fail to become laws. Last year the Governor signed 546 acts, 111 resolves, vetoed four bills, and withheld his signature from four.

The session has been one month shorter than last year, and practically the same amount of business has been transacted. More bills have been vetoed this year than before within the memory of the oldest legislator, and more vetoes have been overthrown than is usual.

The most important legislation of the year, in point of magnitude, was the Metropolitan Water bill, and it became a law in the last hours of the session. Other important bills were the tuberculosis measure, the Boston City Charter bill, and the Veterans' Preference bill.

It was soon after 7 o'clock last evening when a concurrent order was adopted for a committee to wait upon the Governor and advise him that the Legislature was ready to be prorogued. It was 7.20 when the Secretary entered the Senate, and pronounced that body, and a couple of minutes later when he performed the same duty for the House, and the members somewhat sadly took up their march for the coat rooms, and then wended their ways homeward.

with the General Court; but the people should take to themselves a share of the responsibility, for with them rests the burden of introducing the public business early.

I could not close my remarks and fail to express to the Clerk my acknowledgment of dependence upon him for his ever faithful service; to the Sergeant-at-Arms and his appointees the most sincere gratitude for their constance and thoughtfulness; to the Chaplain my veneration and respect.

Fellow citizens, our session is at an end. The record of our work is written. By that we must abide for commendation or condemnation. To many of us these long hours mark also the close of our public service. To some is given the responsibility of public life, but to all in whatever sphere of life, may the blessings of Providence attend you.

Thanks for the Efficient Clerk.

Mr. Quinn of Suffolk offered a resolution of thanks to Henry D. Coolidge, Clerk of the Senate. It was resolved by Mr. Miller of Worcester. The resolution was unanimously adopted. The Clerk was presented with a valuable rug. The courtesy of the floor was extended to him, and in a graceful speech he accepted the gift.

Resolutions of thanks were offered by Mr. Atwood of Plymouth to Sergeant-at-Arms Adams and his assistants. Mr. Reed seconded them, and Mr. Adams fittingly responded.

Mr. Morse of the Cape presented Capt. Remington, custodian of the Senate Chamber, with a couch. Mr. Remington accepted in a short speech of thanks.

Mr. Wellman of Middlesex moved a vote of thanks to Rev. Edmund Dowse, Chaplain of the Senate. The motion was unanimously carried.

SPEAKER MEYER'S GIFT.

House Gave Him a Solid Silver Salver as a Remembrance.

In the House yesterday the usual presentations to the officers of the body were made. Mr. Moriarty of Worcester offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of the House of Representatives are tendered to the Hon. George V. L. Meyer for the efficient and satisfactory manner in which he has discharged the duties of Speaker, for the impartiality and fairness which have characterized his rulings as a presiding officer, and for the uniform courtesy which has marked his official and personal relations to the members of this House.

Mr. Moriarty said that as a minority party, he took pride and pleasure in offering the resolutions. Mr. Moriarty was followed by Messrs Harwood of Newton, Bates of Boston, Bancroft of Clinton, Stanley of New Bedford, Sleeper of Winthrop, Young of Springfield, and Shea of Cambridge. Mr. Shea at the conclusion of his remarks presented the speaker with an elegant silver tray, and the resolutions were adopted by a rising vote.

Resolutions on Clerk McLaughlin.

Mr. Spring of Boston offered the following resolutions: Resolved, That the House of Representatives, in appreciation of the manner in which he has performed his duties in the present session, be seconded by Mr. Bailey of Pittsfield and unanimously adopted. Accompanying the resolutions was a handsome set of works, which Mr. McLaughlin was asked to accept from the members. The privilege of the floor, and made an appropriate response to the resolutions and the gift. He felt additional gratification in having the resolutions presented by the gentleman from Boston.

Complimentary resolutions were also adopted thanking Assistant Clerk Kimball, who was presented an elegant silver-mounted inkstand.

Resolutions were also introduced and adopted thanking the Chaplain, Rev. D. W. Waldron, Sergeant-at-Arms, Adams and his assistants.

On motion of Mr. Teahorn of Boston, the House adjourned.

Oineyville Strikers

Around the Police.

Latter Hold Them Back With Difficulty.

A Very Narrow Avoidance of a Pitched Battle.

Fear That Matters Will More Serious Today.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.) Providence, June 5.—The Oineyville strikers came dangerously near being a battle between the police and the crowd today. Nothing but the self-control of the police prevented a scene of fierce conflict. A rabble at the gate of the Atlantic Mill has themselves to blame for it. Fifty of the crowd encouraged an assault upon the police who were pressing back the mob for passage of the people working in the mill. For a brief time it seemed that the crowd could not be averted. The crowd was defiant even under the swinging clubs of the officers and the charges of the mob police.

Women in the crowd screamed with terror and the men shouted hoarsely, but held their position. The police gave up finally, having kept their temper. They may regret their leaving later.

How the Day Opened.

What was averted today has been expected for two days past. The police do not pretend to say that they have been looking for it. Every time the strikers marched out of the portals of Atlantic Mill they have gone prepared for battle. They have seen the temper of the crowd, and have had no excuse for taking extreme action.

A bigger force was on duty at the mill today. About 85 men with five mounted officers, under Capt. Marston, were in the Atlantic gates at 8 o'clock. At that time about 25 officers with 100 mounted men were there. They started in through clear Manton Avenue Police Chills, and upon the suggestion of Mayor O'Brien the experiment of keeping the crowd moving on Manton Avenue, tried last night, was a failure. The crowd would respond to the efforts of the officers, but the mounted officers made but little improvement. The shouting and hissing of the strikers was noticeable everywhere, and this exactly what the police wanted to stop.

Summer Coolers

Naturally suggest ices, cool drinks, etc., which are very nice in a way — especially while "Old Sol" is doing such deadly work. But our Serge Suits are far more effective, in the long run, as "summer coolers." Clothed in one you needn't mind the thermometer, nor dread the approach of dog days.

Serge is the lightest and coolest of woollen fabrics, as it is also the toughest, and for summer wear has no equal.

Ours are made with such careful regard to details that, really, no gentleman need leave his measure—the style is correct and the fit perfect.

For $15 we give you a suit fully equal to custom work.

ROBBING STRANGERS.

Ex-Mayor Matthews Accuses New York Police.

Says Visitors Have Been Robbed

York that the officers stationed at the depot regard themselves as courts of law, organized for the purpose of protecting hack drivers, bunco steers, green goods men, and other extortionists in their warfare on the public.

"It seemed to me that this was an excellent chance to make a test case, and find out whether such acts were to be permitted, or whether the Police Commission of New York, as now reorganized and reformed, would not do something to protect travelers against imposition of this kind. Whether the claim of the Telephone Company was a just one or not, has nothing to do with the case. It was a purely civil claim, which no officer of the peace has anything to do with, in the absence of any law."

Culminate at Wedding Festivities in Lenox Today.

Marriage of Miss Florence A. Sloane and James A. Burden, Jr.

Distinguished Society People From New York and Elsewhere.

Pittsfield, Mass., June 6.—The most notable society event in the history of Berkshire county took place today at Lenox, when Miss Florence Adele Sloane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Sloane of New York, was united in marriage to James Abercrombie Burden, Jr., of Troy.

The wedding was notable in that it brought to Lenox a large number of representatives of the best society of the land, including members of the Vanderbilt family, to which the bride belongs on her mother's side, the family of Gov. Morton of New York, Hon. Chauncey M. Depew and family, and many members of the Diplomatic Corps from Washington. Accustomed as Lenox is to the presence

A TRIUMPH OF PROTECTION.

With cabins crowded with passengers, the great new American liner St. Louis put to sea from New York yesterday for Southampton. She begins her career under the bright auspices. At least three-fourths and perhaps four-fifths of the travelers on business or pleasure bent between the United States and Europe are American citizens, and all of them would naturally prefer to sail under their country's flag, surrounded by the comforts and conveniences to which they have been accustomed. When the old Inman Company, which had passed into American ownership, decided to relinquish its generous British subsidies and to hoist the Stars and Stripes, its managers frankly said that they were not altogether moved by sentiment, that they believed that the Americanizing of their fleet would prove to be a good business transaction. It looks as if the results were certainly going to justify their confidence.

For more than half of the present century America monopolized the cream of the transatlantic passenger traffic. In the old days of the sailing packets the American ships were confessedly the finest, safest, fastest and best appointed. And when steam came in the swift and splendid vessels of the Collins Line handsomely sustained American supremacy. Up to 1858, practically all the record breakers on the Western ocean flew the Yankee ensign. About that time the scheming pro-slavery politicians in Congress discovered that the mail subsidies which the United States was paying were dangerously increasing the war power of the North, where nearly all our splendid fleet of mail steamships were constructed. So, with the eager aid of the doughfaces, they abrogated the contracts with Collins and other great American shipowners, killed our mail lines and transferred the monopoly of the Atlantic passenger trade to England.

That is how our maritime prestige was lost. For more than 30 years there had been no serious and sustained effort to regain it, until the Fifty-first Congress—the "Czar Reed" Congress, Republican in both branches—enacted its Postal Aid law re-establishing the prudent and patriotic policy of national recognition of our steamship interests, which the old slaveholders had struck down. That legislation of March 2, 1891, is the first step which made the building of the St. Louis possible. This grand ship is even more directly a product of the beneficent protective principle than the iron mills of Pennsylvania, or the woolen factories of Massachusetts. She is a most magnificent embodiment of the idea of encouraging home industry, and it is

HE STILL HAD A VOICE.

The boy and his voice were not mates. That was evident the moment the former attempted to use the latter. The one was not quite a "5-foot boy," while the other would easily pass as a "7-foot voice." They both got on an Allegheny train at Congress Street, and the boy undertook to say something about having 5 o'clock papers to sell, whereupon the windows rattled and the car began to rock. The old man, who had jumped so high that his head nearly struck the roof, looked at the boy reproachfully for a moment, and then attempted to be humorous. "A little louder, please," he said. "Hunty," returned the boy inquiringly, "Speak a little louder. Have you lost your voice?"

The other passengers laughed, and the boy seemed somewhat discomfited. "Paper?" he asked going close to the man. "No," replied the man, gratified at the success of his little joke. "I was merely wondering why you didn't speak out instead of whispering."

The boy was close to the man's ear by this time, and he let out a cry of "Evening papers!" that fairly jarred the engineer. He got to the door first, and the book that the old man threw after him merely raised a bump on the side of the conductor's head. —Chicago Inter Ocean.

A FRIEND OF ST. PETER.

The late Dr. Yandell was fond of telling the following joke: A lady patient one morning greeted him with the remark: "Doctor, I had such a singular dream about you last night." "Indeed. What was it?" "Why, I dreamed that I died and went to heaven. I knocked at the golden gate and was answered by Peter, who asked my name and address and told the recording angel to bring his book. He had considerable difficulty in finding my name, and hesitated so long over the entry when he did find it that I was terribly afraid something was wrong; but he suddenly looked up and asked: 'What did you say your name was?' I told him again. 'Why,' said he, 'you have no business here. You're not due these ten or fifteen years yet.' 'Well,' said I, 'Dr. Yandell said—' 'Oh, you're one of Yandell's patients, are you? That accounts for it. Come right in! Come right in! That man's always upsetting our calculations in some way.' —Vis Mediatrix.

NOT A COMRADE.

The train had stopped for a few minutes and the man with the red face had taken advantage of the wait to rush into the station and get a sandwich that was very hard and a couple of apples that were very hard and very green.

"It isn't very inviting," he said, as he came back into the smoking-room of the Pullman just as the train started and began to eat his luncheon, "but I've seen times when I'd have been mighty glad to get even this. Why," when I was imprisoned at Andersonville."

The man with the G. A. R. pin looked up at this and reached across to grasp the hand of the red-faced man. "You, then, are one of those heroes that fought for the preservation of this glorious Union, one of those that suffered through the pains of death in that rebel hell, one of

Day of Many Addresses in Behalf of Societies.

Truly Favorable News From New England Department.

Oliver O. Howard of Burlington, Vt., Elected President.

Saratoga, N. Y., June 5.—The morning session of the Congregational Home Missionary Society was devoted to the auxiliaries of the church, with addresses by Rev. C. H. Merrill of Vermont, Rev. James Thompson of Illinois, Rev. H. W. Carter of Wisconsin and Rev. A. L. Love of St. Louis, Mo.

Rev. O. H. Merrill, Secretary of the Vermont Auxiliary, said the characteristic feature of our missionary work of late has been the employment of young women to supplement the work of pastors. The new work, instead of diminishing the old, has increased it. Instead of our young women supplanting men, they have increased the demand. More men have been employed, at longer terms of service, and greatly increased results. Last year 50 men have worked in 52 fields. The work in Vermont is principally the country problem in an old State.

Woman's Meeting.

The 13th annual meeting of the Woman's Department was held, Mrs. H. S. Caswell of New York, Secretary presiding. In her annual address she stated that during the year there had been a steady growth along many lines of their work and much intelligent study made of the great field before them. Notwithstanding the financial pressure, the Treasurer of the woman's organizations has yielded to the five national societies $4,367.78, of which $3,679.94 has been contributed to the Home Missionary Society. "The unions have furnished appropriations for 97 missionaries, besides contributing to work among Bohemians, Germans and Scandinavians. (This year, said Mrs. Caswell, "I must report for the first time in our history a loss of $1600 to the gain in receipts, a loss of over $1600 to the whole work. Two hundred and eighty societies have sent to our missionaries 680 boxes and packages together with cash gifts aggregating an estimated value $46,265.70, while all our work of this kind assigned and reported through the Woman's Department has been valued at $69,713.61.

There are 373,081 women in the Congregational Churches today, and the contribution per member for home missions during the year was 36 cents. She closed with an appeal for a more liberal contribution. Addresses were made by Miss Anna Houghton of Pennsylvania, who spoke of "A Modern Miracle," Mrs. Joseph C. O'Connell of Massachusetts, on "Woman's Club of National Interest," Mrs. Alice S. Barnes of Montana, "Work Among Montana Miners," and Miss M. Dean Moffatt of Oklahoma, "First Impressions of Oklahoma."

Dr. Boynton's Remarks.

Rev. George M. Boynton, D. D., of Boston, National Secretary of the Sunday School Publishing Society, said that the total expenditures of the society for the year, including everything, was a little less than $66,000. Adding to this the years of service the time of field secretaries who does much missionary work, and half the time of the secretary, makes 30 years of labor expended on the missionary work of Sunday Schools. (One-third of $66,000 is $22,000. That amount then covers one-third of all work for the year.

"The Story of the Year" was the subject of the paper presented at the evening session, by Rev. William Kimball, D. D., National Secretary, whose headquarters are in the Bible House, New York city. He said that the reports from New England's home missionary fields are jubilant in tone. Secretary Merrill of Vermont reports that the ingatherings have been large as compared with former years, so that today the number of organizations is larger than ever before, and the list of communicants is in excess of any reported for more than half a century.

Secretary McGregor of Rhode Island says: "For years past we have not had so bright a financial and spiritual outlook as during the last 12 months." Secretary Colt reports for Massachusetts that of the six churches that have assumed self-support in that State during the year, three are from the list of those that have been counted "permanents," 13,040 souls have been added to these home missionary churches during the year, and of these 13,040, 8693 united on confession of faith, a gain of 185 over last year, which was one of exceptional blessing in this respect, and a gain of 2065 over the report of five years ago. Moreover, 180,813 scholars, nearly 17,000 more than last year, have been gathered into the "Sunday Schools of the home missionary churches, and the gospel has been regularly preached at 410 mission stations, 174 more than a year ago."

Massachusetts and Illinois report laborers among French, Italians and Armenians; and Massachusetts, a successful mission among the Jews. The receipts of the society during the year just closed amounted only to $340,756. This is $124,000 less than the income for 1892-3, the year before the panic, and $103,000 less than the income for 1889-90, that is, the income of five years ago. The history of the Treasury shows that our ordinary receipts are on a constantly ascending scale, an annual increment of from $15,000 to $20,000.

But for two successive years the revenues have been more than $100,000 less than five years ago. This explains the present debt of $132,000.

State Treasurer Carter's cash balance was $143,192.81. Last night it was smaller, being some $6000 less than it should have been. A successful job of burglary accounts for the depletion.

Last Saturday morning Deputy Treasurer Gerrish and a State official were in the Treasurer's office together engaged in general conversation, when a man entered, and coming up to the wicket near the vault, asked Major Gerrish if he had a $50-bill.

"I guess so," answered the Major.

The man said he would like to exchange some small bills for it, and Major Gerrish, after examining the notes which the stranger presented, took a $50 note from the cash and presented back to him the $50 bill, and the stranger at once took his leave and Major Gerrish remarked that he was glad to get rid of the $50 bill because there was a call for a note of that denomination.

Soon after this Treasurer Carter arrived, and the $50 note incident was dismissed, just before noon that day the Treasury was closed and the Treasurer and his Deputy went to dinner.

The order remained the same as yesterday, except that Wrightington, who is suffering from a slight strain, was laid off. Damon rowed in Wrightington's place at bow. The water in the morning was good, but in the afternoon a fresh breeze sprang up. For about half the course it made Harvard's heavy boat hard to row. This and poor blade work made the time slow. MOB-LIKE.

Olneyville Strikers Surge Around the Police.

Latter Hold Them Back With Difficulty.

A Very Narrow Avoidance of a Pitched Battle.

Fear That Matters Will Be More Serious Today.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Journal.) Providence, June 5.—The Olneyville strike came dangerously near being a battle tonight. Nothing but the police and the crowd tonight prevented a scene of fierce conflict. The rabble at the gate of the Atlantic Mill have themselves to blame for it. Fifty of the crowd encouraged an assault upon the police who were pressing back the mob for the passage of the people working in the mill. For a brief time it seemed that trouble could not be averted. The crowd was defiant even under the swinging clubs of the officers and the charges of the mounted police.

Women in the crowd screamed with terror and the men shouted hoarsely, but they held their position. The police gave way finally, having kept their temper. They may regret their leaving later.

How the Day Opened.

What was averted today has been expected for two days past. The police do not pretend to say that they have not been looking for it. Every time they have marched out of the portals of Station 6 they have gone prepared for battle. They have seen the temper of the crowd on more than one occasion, but until tonight they have had no excuse for taking extreme action.

A bigger force was on duty at the Atlantic today. About 35 men with five mounted officers, under Capt. Marston, as senior Captain of the Providence police, were marched to the Atlantic gates at 6 o'clock. At noon-time about 25 officers with the mounted men were there. They started in thoroughly to clear Manton Avenue of loiterers. This was by orders of Chief of Police Childs, who was in charge of officers and all the mills.

This the Number of Bills Vetoed by Governor.

Beats the Record for a Good Many Years on Veto Work.

Three Were "Pocketed" by Executive and Fail to Become Laws.

The Great and General Court Prorogued to Tuesday Preceding First Wednesday in January.

The Great and General Court of Massachusetts is a thing of the past, in all human probability, for it was prorogued Wednesday night, and unless some unusual thing happens, will not be called together again. It was prorogued at 7:30 last evening, and its record for the year is briefly summed up in the information conveyed by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, to the effect that the Governor had during the session signed 504 acts, 127 resolves, vetoed 16 bills, allowed two to become laws by statutory limitation, withholding his signature, to which may be added the fact that he took no action upon three salary bills sent him in the closing hours of the session, by reason of which they fall to become laws.

Last year the Governor signed 446 acts, 111 resolves, vetoed four bills, and withheld his signature from four.

The session has been one month shorter than last year, and practically the same.
